

Health, Safety and Environmental Policy

SFS Fire Engineering Ltd. (SFS) understands its moral and legal obligation to provide a safe and healthy working environment for employees and any others who may be affected by our work. We have documented our systems to demonstrate how we meet our legal obligations and best practice for a company our size operating in this industry. The documentation follows ISO45001 which is currently seen as best practice.

It is the aim of SFS to provide safe and healthy working conditions for all its employees and to ensure that it does not carry out its activities in a way it may affect the safety or health of others such as customers, suppliers, contractors or members of the public. In order to achieve this, we will implement a health and safety management system to assess and minimize risks with the processes we operate. We will set up systems for monitoring processes and improve health and safety performance. Our systems are based on current legislation as a minimum. Any other relevant requirements (such as customer systems and standards) are assessed and incorporated into our systems where they add value.
